■ Could it be the start of a new trend? It seems Resource One Credit Union has had it with scruffy employees. The Dallas-based credit union is on a mission to clean up its employees' image with a target date of Jan. 1 to have all its workers toeing the sartorial line. "We want our employees' appearances to reflect our commitment of growth and service for our members," said Suzanne Collier, Resource One's chief operations officer. To help achieve its goal, Resource One has enlisted the services of corporate image adviser Linda Thomas, owner of Powerful Appearance Corporate Image Advisers, based in Lake Dallas.
